

ADVISES 'CYCLISTS SHOULD BE TAUGHT RULES OF HIGHWAY

Trooper Emory Claims Bristol School Doing Exceptional Job

SAFETY EDUCATION

Parents "Should Explain To Child How To Use 'Cycle on Streets"

Trooper Leland Emory, educational supervisor of Doylestown sub-station of Pennsylvania State Police, with safety of children in mind, states: "I hope there isn't a parent in Bucks County who bought a child a bicycle but didn't explain how to use it on the highways or streets."

Asserting that too many parents fail to instruct their children about being careful while riding to and from school on a bicycle, Trooper Emory said: "It is amazing how few parents know that a bicycle is supposed to conform to the highway with the same traveling rules as a motor vehicle."

"Never, never ride a bicycle against the traffic but with it on the right side of the highway just like a car," Trooper Emory said. "Parents should make a special effort to see to it that the boys and girls have lights on them at night."

Declaring that safety education is being taught in the high schools of the county—Bristol, Doylestown, Sellersville, Perkasie, Newtown, Springfield and Quakertown—Trooper Emory said each school should build a miniature highway which will add the pupils to solve their own school traffic problems.

"The children are assigned to read about each accident—motor and otherwise—and discuss them in class. In this way the children learn what should be and what should not have been done."

"The Bristol school, which receives pamphlets and other material each month from a National Safety Council, is doing an exceptional job in safety education," Trooper Emory said.

Having visited the major high schools in the county, Trooper Emory will visit the elementary and one-room schools as part of the safety education program.

Over 100 Parents Visit Jefferson Ave. School

More than 100 parents and friends took advantage of "open house" to visit the classrooms of Jefferson avenue public school pupils, last evening. The ten rooms were open for inspection, including kindergarten, and grades one, two, five, six and seven. Miss Annie Heritage, principal, and staff of teachers, were present to welcome the group.

The "open house" night gave parents and teachers opportunity to become better acquainted; and a number of pupils and former pupils were also present.

The visitors to the different rooms inspected health posters, book reports, and saw the manner in which projectors are used to aid in the classes. There were also displayed room woven pieces, basketry, maps, drawings, small "wind-mills" on sticks made by kindergarten pupils; dolls dressed by the children; and all types of hand-work. Work in geography, learning of numbers by the first graders, etc., were included.

The Roosevelt Legacy

—by—
SAMUEL B. PETTINGILL
"The Gentleman from Indiana"

When Mr. Roosevelt was Governor of New York and had the job of looking into the affairs of public officials, such as sheriffs and mayors, he laid down the sound rule that "the stewardship of public officers" is such that "in a sense is not at all true of private citizens... their personal possessions are invested with a public importance... They should, when called upon, give public proof of the nature, source and extent of their financial affairs."

Mr. Roosevelt's legacy is not to be measured alone by the property left to his heirs, but also by the standards of public service which he set for himself.

In the trial of Sheriff Tom Farley and Mayor Jimmy Walker of New York, Governor Roosevelt laid down high standards. It can be said also to his credit that as President he acted to free the federal civil service from political pressure. But a deterioration of the standards of public service took place in his 16 years in public office (1 year as governor and 12 as President) seems very plain.

When Mr. Taft was President, the Cuban Ambassador presented him with a huge box of the finest Havana cigars. President Taft refused to accept the gift.

Thomas Jefferson, who held public office for a total of 20 years or more, said at the end of his career that he had never appointed a relative to a political job.

HERE AND THERE IN BUCKS COUNTY TOWNS

Activities of Interest To All in The Various Communities

GLEANED BY SCRIBES

Sponsored by Warrington Junior Women's Club, a combination sale was held Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Gargen, near Warrington.

Articles consisted of household articles, farm machinery and a few antiques. Proceeds of the sale which was attended by more than 250 persons amounted to between $1,000 and $1,100.

Keen interest was shown in the disposal of an old hanging lamp and other lamps. The former went to the high bidder for $7.50 and other lamps brought from $1 to $8.

There was a keen demand for household articles. A dinette set sold for $41, and a living room suite brought $190. Chairs, a number of them plank bottoms, sold quite readily for $2 to $5.

Prices received for other articles were as follows: rugs, $6.50 to $15; garden tractor, $50; manure spreader, $20; cultivators, $1 to $7.50, and corn sheller, $4.50.

The final meeting of the season of the Bucks County Natural Science Association will be held on Saturday afternoon in the auditorium of Newtown high school, where Wendell F. Oliver will give a talk on hollies, and Randolph Ashton will speak on the subject, "Colorful Trails."

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

The Beef Industry Advisory Committee, by a vote of 11 to 1, yesterday authorized the filing of a petition with the Secretary of Agriculture for the removal of price ceilings on meats. Secretary Anderson is expected to deny the plea.

Prospects of a break in the maritime strike were seen when one of the unions abandoned its insistence upon a uniform national agreement and offered to settle with eastern and Gulf operators if another union would do the same.

The War Department announced a round-the-world flight of B-29 Superfortresses, if the State Department approves, "to work out technical problems." No diplomatic objection is anticipated for a purely scientific flight. Airmail-rates to foreign countries have been reduced and standardized.

America's position on atomic energy control rests upon international inspection and abolition of the veto, Bernard M. Baruch emphasized in receiving the annual Freedom House award. This land is to be used by the Scouts of the lower Bucks and Delaware Valley districts for week-end camping and other activities.

Gilbert H. Gendall, former Scout executive of Region II which comprises New York and New Jersey, and who has been an honorary member of the board, was elected to active membership.

A meeting of the council will be held on October 24th. General Joseph Byron, who had charge of the Post Exchange throughout the world during the war, will be the speaker at this meeting. General Byron is regional chairman of the long term planning for the Council in Region III. Representative of all units of the council have been invited to take part in the meeting. ## FIREMEN CALLED

PRICE-CONTROL FAILS

The Truman price control plan is going to pieces like the one-horse shay. The meat famine, which is the inevitable result of stupid blunders, and which comes at a time when there is plenty of meat "on the hoof", is what has killed off everyone's enthusiasm for the OPA.

If Congress were in session, the Democrats themselves would probably scrap the whole price control program, except for rents. They think the meat fiasco is the worst of a long series of Truman mistakes, and they are blaming it for wiping out whatever chance they had in the coming elections.

Truman has tried to defend himself on the grounds that it was the Republicans who were to blame. In the old saying, that's a dog which won't hunt. Everyone knows who it was vetoed the first OPA compromise, which was a plan of orderly de-control supported by leading members of the President's own party.

Everyone knows also that the Democratic Party has been in full and undisputed control of the White House and Congress, and that the President cannot possibly pass the buck to Republicans for his blunders.

What not everyone does know is the identity of the group in America which had most to do with drafting the law in its present unworkable language, and which pressured the Decontrol Board into its mistake on meat.

This was the CIO-PAC leadership—the little band of pro-Communists at the top who are running this politico-labor vote-and-slush-fund machine as autocratically as the toughest czar used to boss the Russian serfs.

The Communists have always favored Government running the whole economy of the nation. War-time price-control was a step in that direction; therefore the CIO was for it.

The compromise OPA was a program of orderly de-control. Therefore the CIO-PAC demanded that the President veto the bill. He did so—obeying the CIO radicals instead of listening to his own party leaders.

Report Made of Recent Activities of Tuberculosis Society

Mrs. Emma P. Stover, executive secretary of the Bucks County Tuberculosis and Health Society, in her September report, revealed that nine industrial plants were contacted with reference to chest X-rays, and that 16 schools were contacted for similar purposes.

Exactly 2,447 school children and adults were X-rayed.

As part of the health program, Mrs. Stover made 769 miles and held 51 interviews. She assisted with the nine X-ray clinics. Ten telephone calls were made and she received 22 telephone calls.

In the patient department, Mrs. Stover reported that nine contacts were referred to a clinic. She assisted with plans for patients to go to a sanatorium. Fourteen home visits were made and Mrs. Stover contributed to a patient's rehabilitation.

Under the educational program, literature and letters were sent to 19 factories regarding chest surveys. Tuberculosis law booklets were sent to several doctors in the county. Three conferences regarding X-ray survey were held.

Plans are underway to X-ray during the week of November 18. Four schools and several industries are already listed. Mrs. Stover said plans are being made to X-ray 3,000 persons that week.

The typing of the seal sale envelopes is nearly completed. All the seal sale supplies have been received and arrangements have been made for the printing of the seal sale letters.

Mrs. Stover acknowledged all letters and requests for literature and submitted a report of the work to all the directors in the Philadelphia office.

Chiang Kai-shek Asks for National Unity

Nanking—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek made a nationwide radio appeal today for national unity in China and called for the Chinese Communists to submit to peaceful settlement of their differences with the Nationalists.

Chiang's appeal was made on the eve of China's observance tomorrow of the 35th anniversary of the founding of the Chinese republic by Sun Yat Sen.

As he was speaking, Gen. George C. Marshall flew to Shanghai for a conference with Chinese Communist negotiator Chou En-Lai and returned to Nanking without disclosing the nature of his discussions.

Marshall's trip followed Chou's reply yesterday to peace negotiators, in which the Communist general turned down the latest proposal for a ten-day truce in China's civil war. Chou contended the truce should be without a time limit.

Rome—One of the most savage riots in Rome's recent history cost several lives today when a mob of 20,000 unemployed invaded the Italian Ministry of the Interior and exchanged shots with police.

It was timed to coincide with the arrival from Palermo of Premier Alcide De Gasperi. Heavy police reinforcements in armored cars finally subdued the riot.

Gives Figures on Losses In Nation Due to Fires

"The man who thought up the slogan: 'An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure' must have had America's fire losses in mind," according to Fire Chief Clifford Hagerman.

Commenting today on Fire Prevention Week, sponsored by the National Fire Protection Association, Chief Hagerman gave some interesting figures to back up his statement.

"Fire losses this year, according to the NFPA, will probably reach the all-time high of more than 11,000 persons killed and almost $600,000,000 in property destroyed. These figures represent an increase of 22% over 1945."

"A home catches fire every 90 seconds somewhere in the country," the Chief declared. "But the tragic part of these losses is that nine out of ten fires could be avoided by the use of common-sense, in the elimination of fire hazards; such as, careless smoking and negligent use of matches; accumulated piles of rags, papers, old bedding, etc., which should be cleaned out of every home."

"It's the business of the fire department to know the common fire hazards. We're ready and anxious to help the people of Bristol rout them out during Fire Prevention Week, and every week in the year."

"We ask that everyone learn the location of his nearest fire-alarm box and how to operate it. In communities where there is no fire alarm system, learn how to call the Fire Department by telephone and be sure the exact location of the fire is clearly stated. We ask also that everyone inspect at regular intervals the fire extinguishers in his home."

STALLONE AGAIN BEFORE THE COURT

Young Bristol Man is Sentenced for Having Revolver in His Possession

NEGRO IS SENTENCED

DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 9.—Jasper Stallone, 29-year-old Bristol parolee, who allegedly took part in the burglary of a Bristol chain store less than a year ago, was in court again yesterday when he pleaded guilty before Judge Calvin S. Boyer to a charge of carrying a revolver without a license.

The court committed Stallone to the Pennsylvania State Industrial School at White Hill with directions that he there be given an examination to determine whether he be recommended to the State Industrial School at Huntingdon as a mental defective.

Stallone told Judge Boyer that he took his father's revolver without permission "to do some practicing," and that he went to Trenton instead on a date, and while there was picked up.

Upon recommendation of a psychiatrist at the Bucks County Prison it was suggested to the court that Stallone be given some type of medical treatment and care.

WOMEN SHOULD AID IN IMPROVING THE POLITICAL "GAME"

Miss Helene Nathanson Says Women Are Being Courtured Into Politics

IS A LOCAL SPEAKER

Name Mrs. M. Epstein Pres't Lower Bucks Co. Council, Republican Women

Election of officers of the Lower Bucks County Council of Republican Women was held last evening in the Travel Club home on Cedar street. The guest speaker for the evening was Miss Helene Nathanson of Philadelphia.

The meeting was opened by the singing of "America," followed by the oath of allegiance. The members then stood a moment in silence in memory of Miss Hattie Carter, a charter member, and Dr. J. Fred Wagner, a very good friend of the organization.

Mrs. David Sheerer introduced Miss Helene Nathanson, who is a member of the Pennsylvania Bar Association and chairman of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Pennsylvania, State Council of Republican Women, and also former president of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Philadelphia.

Miss Nathanson said: "They say politics is a dirty game and not for women, but I do not agree with them." "If this is true, women would do a good job of cleaning up as women are after all house keepers. Women should not try to control but should work with the men to improve politics and work together for the good of government."

Women are now being courtured into politics as they hold the balance of control, but it must be exercised properly. We as women should not be afraid to express an opinion, but before we do, we should be sure to know what we are talking about and it should be an honest and unbiased opinion. Every woman should take part in elections and stand up for the men they are supporting."

Miss Nathanson further said: "It is much too soon to worry about elections in 1948, as the job for now is the 1946 November elections." She stated: "Pennsylvania will be watched very closely as a barometer of the 1948 elections. A New Deal victory now would hamper Republican chances in 1948. In the form of government we had before the New Deal we had free enterprise, and the will to grow and produce what we wanted, and that is why I long for it to return. We take all our liberties for granted and never stop to think that they are supplied by the government. The reason for this is we have always had them." Continuing, the

AUDACIOUS MAN

Poor old man. He has written the world's best books, best pieces of music and he has painted the world's best art. He leads in invention, in military glory, in making of laws and in athletics. Then, with all this brain power he has the audacity to sit on CPA and attempt to regulate the length of a woman's skirt to within a few inches.

Poor, ignorant soul. Does he think for an instant that a woman is going to whack her skirt off at the knee if she thinks it is more attractive an inch and one-half longer? Does he think for a moment that a woman who figures her knees are a trifle ugly is going to overlook an item like skirt length in correcting this factor?

Woman is wise. She knows what CPA does not know. She knows that it will all balance in the long run and no millions of yards of material will be saved by solemn edict over an inch or two of skirt. For every woman who thinks she is attractive with her skirt riding two inches below the knee, there is another who figures her beauty hinges on a skirt hoisted two inches above her dimples.

So while bureaucrats issue edicts on skirt length, take a sly look at the nearest woman. She is smiling complacently. She has known for months that no dressmaker has paid much attention to edicts that attempt to regulate skirt length to the inch.

NOT A BAD HABIT

Meat-eating, says Dr. Esther Phipard, identified as a Department of Agriculture nutrition expert—whatever that is—is only a habit and not essential to the diet even of persons engaged in hard manual labor. Actually, Esther holds, it's calories he needs and he can get them just as well from carbohydrates. She does admit, though—to the consternation of the OPA, no doubt—that it's difficult to keep meatless menus interesting.

It's undoubtedly true that a working man can get along on eggs, milk, fish, dried beans, peas, peanuts, peanut butter, apple butter, applesauce and whole grain foods. But meat-eating, like breathing, is a habit most persons would like to continue—although breath, unlike meat, is on the average reasonably easy to get these days.

War millionaires now under investigation will not have a leg to stand on if it is ever brought out they are still getting meat.

PRICE-CONTROL FAILS

When OPA took its enforced vacation, prices rose irregularly, but all the scarce items, including meat, suddenly became abundant. Competition rapidly started to bring prices back into control. From the Communist point of view, this was terrible; if it kept on, the Americans might actually go back to free enterprise.

Therefore all over the United States "price protest" parades and mass-meetings were organized, with the threat that the CIO members would lose their jobs as the leverage to bring out the crowds.

Combined pressure from the White House, the Democratic patronage lobby, and the PAC forced the present compromise through Congress and the President signed it.

It might have worked, although the turmoil resulting from the Truman veto of the first compromise probably would have made it very difficult in any event.

But it had no fair trial. The CIO-PAC forces immediately went to bat for a "roll-back" in the meat price, although not a thing in the meat situation warranted the board taking such action under the law.

Pressured into the step, the Decontrol Board made the fantastic decision to "roll-back" meat prices but to leave the prices of grain, which is meat's raw material, uncontrolled.

The board was told at the time this wouldn't work, and it hasn't. Meat producers simply sat back to wait out the nonsense. Why should they sell at less than their cost of production? Meat vanished. If like Wimpy in the comics, we could all gnaw the tails of live cows, meat would be easy to find.

But the slaughter houses and meat shops have been shutting down by the hundred.

And the public at last seems to have got the point—that the way to clear the decks of all this Communistic experimenting is to elect a Republican Congress which will refuse to be pressured into absurd and unworkable laws.

Meat is not the only problem. One necessity after another, from soap to houses, and from lard to motor cars, is vanishing to the point where the national government is predicting a "bust" instead of the boom we ought to be having.

The whole story of what has produced this frightful and dangerous situation was summed up in a single sentence recently by the Federal Court of Claims overruling a highhanded act in the price-control field. Said the Court: "The defendant (the Government) does not deny that the ceiling price fixed by the OPA was lower than the cost of production."

What sort of nonsense and un-American tyranny is it for the government to try to make producers sell at a loss?

Of course such a scheme can bring only chaos. A Quakertown meat processing firm, E. W. Knaus & Son, in announcing it will close down indefinitely, tells exactly the same story.

"In order to keep our reputation and not be classified as Black Marketers, we have been forced to sell at a loss," says the company announcement. "It is impossible to purchase live stock and remain in compliance with unjust regulations. . . . Renewed price-fixing has already broken down."

"We regret the release of our fine organization of meat cutters and butchers who have been with us from six to forty-one years. Until such time as there is again fair competition in business, removal of meat quotas, and the OPA ceilings are dead and buried, our places of business will remain inactive."

How about it, Mr. and Mrs. Voter? Are you in favor of a plan where a bunch of fuddle-fingered "experts" in Washington put business concerns into idleness and throw veteran employees out of work, trying to compel business to be conducted at a loss?

If not, there's just one way to stop it: VOTE REPUBLICAN!

As against these high standards, Mr. Roosevelt used the power and prestige of his high office to appoint eight of his relatives to public jobs. That members of Mr. Roosevelt's own family, without protest from him, used the prestige of his office to enrich themselves, no one denies. For example, one of his sons, in a magazine article, admitted that when he was only 25 years old he was making $40,000 a year in the insurance business.

Harry Hopkins and other members of his official family sold to magazines, for thousands of dollars, information which came to them only by reason of their occupying official positions.

As recently reported, Mr. Roosevelt left an estate totaling almost 2 million dollars. Most of this of course was legitimately inherited from his father and mother. It is interesting to note that the value of his postage stamps, $213,000, was more than three times that of his government bonds. His government bonds totalled $65,000 which was only about 3 per cent of his total estate, and only 11 per cent of a total of $550,000 of stocks, bonds and cash in bank. "Buy until it hurts!"

That "Divinity that doth hedge a king" has prevented a full inquiry into the question of how Mr. Roosevelt came into possession of such a valuable collection of stamps. Experts and dealers in stamps, however, have charged that valuable

Joseph Stopka, 72, was a recluse and neighbors in Wilmington, Del., thought that he was destitute.

When he was taken to Delaware Hospital on Friday night with a heart ailment, he told the attendants: "I have no money. No relatives."

Stopka died on Sunday. When Chief Deputy Coroner C. Everett Kelley went to his small room in Wilmington later to try to discover whether Stopka had any relatives at all, he found $2700 in cash and securities.

He also discovered that the recluse has a wife and six children, living in Perkasie. They were notified of Stopka's death and his finances.

Speaker stated: "New Deal is central control and is a war-time measure, therefore during the war the general public accepted it. ## "MONARCH OF QUEBEC FORESTS"

Although it is only early October, snow has started to fall in the Lake St. John district of Quebec. Although resting in this clearing is the lord of the forests, one of the most highly prized rewards of the chase—a mighty moose. These lordly beasts, behemoths ranging as high as 1,400 pounds, attract hunters from North America to the Province of Quebec during the moose season. In this northern section of the Province, the season is roughly from the last week of September to the last week of October. (Advertisement)

Rotary Speaker Considers The Changes in Science

ANDALUSIA, Oct. 9—John Kramer, registrar of the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science, Phila., was the speaker at the dinner meeting of Bensalem Rotary Club last evening in King Hall.

Mr. Kramer spoke of the changes in science during the past 40 years, and of the challenge made to science today, particularly in regard to lack of knowledge for cure of cancer, tuberculosis, the common cold, and additional work on atomic energy.

The speaker stressed the need for attention on the part of high school graduates and their parents as the young people are delayed in attending college, due to veterans filling the classrooms and dormitories.

A. Kurtz King was the presiding officer.

C. Burnley White paid tribute to the late J. Fred Wagner, M. D., who died to establish the Bensalem Rotary Club.

communities it has been necessary to extend the campaign period. The workers throughout the county will continue to make solicitations and secure contributions until the entire goal of $25,000, necessary to carry out the five year program, is secured.

The formal action was taken on purchase of an additional property near Camp Ockanickon on which is located a cabin which will be used for the senior scout program of the council. This property which consists of a cabin and 12 acres of land fronting on the Tolkicon Creek was the property of Francis Leighton, who has recently moved to Florida. This will give a unique opportunity to the senior units in the county in developing a characteristic outdoor program of Scouting.

Report of Dr. A. J. Strathie for the summer period of Camp Ockanickon shows a total of 637 Scouts and senior Scouts taking part in the camp program. 85% of the troops of the council participated. This is the largest attendance at the council summer camp in the history of Bucks County. 36 leaders were also in attendance.

Stallone Again Before The Court

"You are a very, very lucky man because if your victim had died you would have gone to the electric chair just as sure as you are living," Judge Calvin S. Boyer told a defendant in Bucks county criminal court yesterday.

The defendant, Harry S. Campbell, 25-year-old Florida Negro, pleaded guilty to stabbing Charles Thompson, fellow worker on the Kings Farms near Morrisville, with a butcher knife on the night of Sept. 6, during a gin-drinking party.

The victim was so badly injured that he had to be confined to a Trenton hospital for 14 days, during which time hospital authorities thought that he might not live.

Judge Boyer sentenced the Negro to serve three to six years in the Eastern State Penitentiary with a recommendation that he serve the maximum sentence.

Jacob A. Beck, 24-year-old ex-sailor pleaded guilty before Judge Boyer to the larceny of an automobile truck which he stole from in front of a Trevoise taproom, where he had been drinking beer.

Beck, who has just been discharged from the service after 33 months, told the court that he took the truck to drive to Philadelphia to visit a brother, when he was arrested on a traffic violation after having an accident that damaged the truck to the extent of $542.45.

The court sentenced Beck to pay the costs and serve 1 to 23 months in the Bucks County Prison, and to pay the owner of the damaged truck the sum of $86 which his insurance policy cost him. The insurance company is paying the damage to the truck, the owner testified.

NIGHT FOOTBALL GAMES ARE TO BE RESUMED LOCALLY

First Gridiron Battle Under Lights Scheduled For Tonight

KICK-OFF AT EIGHT

St. Ann's A. A. and Morrisville Alumni Teams
Will Clash

In the first night football game to be played here since 1939, the St. Ann's A. A. and the Morrisville Alumni teams will clash tonight on the high school field. Opening kick-off is scheduled for eight o'clock.

St. Ann's was one of the teams to inaugurate night football here, playing the Diamond team, of Andalusia, to a scoreless tie when "Bill" Dougherty was coaching the "Saints."

Tonight, the "Saints" will still be using Dougherty's system of football under the direction of Coach "Pete" Borneice. It was Borneice who went through the trouble of organizing the St. Ann's team this season and he has gathered many boys who played at Bristol High.

The unbeaten and unscathed upon Morrisville team is coached by "Johnny" Hoffman, who until this season was coach of Morrisville High and most of his players are former Bulldogs' players. So tonight's fracas should be a repetition of those old Bristol High-Morrisville High games.

St. Ann's opened its season two weeks ago with an 18-0 win over the Chestnut Hill Mohawks and last Sunday triumphed over Cheltenham Jayvees, 7-6. The two wins put the "Saints" in a deadlock with the Olney Vets for first place in the North-east Philadelphia Conference.

Morrisville Alumni played its first tilt against the Langhorne Aces and won 21-0. Last Sunday, the Alumni boys pulled a surprise and walloped the strong Flemington team, 19-0.

Spectators who have seen both the St. Ann's and Morrisville teams in action claim that the teams are about as evenly matched as possible. Both elevens have several players who tip the scales over the 200 mark.

Several St. Ann's players received injuries in the Cheltenham game and it is not known whether they will see action against the Alumni team as Coach Borneice has another conference game next Tuesday night and the "Saints" are anxious to cop the conference championship.

"Reds" Feole, Joe Potena, "Carm" Gullatto, and "Teddy" Sak were shaken up against Cheltenham and did not play in the final half of the game.

But Coach Borneice has some consolation in the fact that "Chick" Cialella will be back in uniform as will "Danny" DeMido, former star of Bristol High and Penn State. Cialella is a lineman, while DeMido is a ball-carrier.

"Joe" Schreiner, who starred in the tilt against Chestnut Hill, only played a few minutes last Sunday and got off on a good run for a touchdown but the play was recalled, a St. Ann's player being off-side. Schreiner has a leg injury which Borneice hopes to rest.

As quarterback Bobby Bauroth was also injured in the game last Sunday, Coach Borneice may start "Vince" Brescia at the pivot post with Spencer, Merritt, and Chichiletti being the other backfield men. Chichiletti ran 75 yards for the winning touchdown against Cheltenham.

Coach Hoffman has a strong starting backfield in Bob Neid, Stradling, Tom McAllister, and "Jim" Hoernle. It was this quartet which wrecked the Bristol High team several years ago and hopes to repeat against St. Ann's tonight.

The drum and bugle corps of the Sanford-Bileto Post, Morrisville, American Legion, will accompany the Alumni team here and furnish music and drill at half-time.

A bus-load of patients from the Tilton General Hospital, Fort Dix, will be the guest of the St. Ann's organization before and after the game.

RECORD CROWD AT THE SPORTSMEN'S MEETING

A record crowd of 204 members and guests packed the meeting hall of the Bristol Fish & Game Protective Association last evening when the last big quarterly meeting for the current year was held in the Odd Fellows' Hall.

Following an interesting business session, refreshments were served and three good reels of movies on bird dog training, duck shooting and big game hunting were enjoyed by the audience. President John C. Johnson presided. He opened the meeting by welcoming members and guests and stated his pleasure at the large number of juniors present.

Complete reports on the recent outing conducted by the association were presented by the general chairman, Nunzio Rubino.

Game Committee Chairman William Bessler, reported rabbits still plentiful and pheasants showing up better every day. He urged members to be extra careful with firearms this fall, since there will probably be more hunters in the field than in the last dozen years.

Ollie Hobbs, fish committee chairman, gave the leaders in the annual fishing contest sponsored by the group for its members.
